

Howard Finnegan – Product Sales Director

Biography

With over 30 years working for US, UK and European technology start-ups Howard is experienced in building sales and service organisations from the ground up.

Since joining Altus in 2009, Howard has overseen the launch of all Altus software products to the market leading positions they hold today. Prior to joining Altus, Howard held a variety of roles in UK, European and US technology start-ups incorporating three IPOs (Object Design Inc., Iona Technologies and Accure Software Inc.). He is a supporter open standards and technology suppliers interoperating to provide better services and value to consumers and breaking down the silos still prevalent within the Financial Services Industry today.
