Jon Dean – Head of Retirement Strategy

Jon has over 25 years' experience in Life and Pensions. From a start in workplace final salary schemes pre A-Day, he has since worked across the spectrum of employee benefits, life companies and investment platforms, addressing a wide range of technology and business challenges throughout a period of huge transformational and regulatory change. Since joining Altus in 2010, Jon has been helping clients on strategic change programmes, working with them to optimise their operations and shape new propositions. His recent work includes advising on platform operating models, merger integrations and options for new pension product launches. Jon is passionate about creating better financial outcomes for the underserved mass market.
