Sarah Bateman – Technical Consultant

Biography

Sarah has over 20 years experience industry experience of architecture, strategy and management, acquiring comprehensive technical skills and knowledge. As an ex-coder she has an insiders insight into IT systems and has gained a wide range of experience whilst working in Financial Services and Telecommunications, both highly regulated industries.

Sarah works with FS companies of all sizes on transformation programmes and legacy modernisation, specialising in Application architecture and modularisation/componentisation; in particular slow transformations, allowing the organisations to integrate and adapt with as little pain as possible.

Sarah has become increasingly focused on Artificial Intelligence and Machine Learning, in particular the ethics and responsibilities.
